Mt. Orab and Georgetown are the hub of the Brown County market area that includes portions of 6 additional counties. The Brown County area enjoys a diverse economy led by strong and varied corporate, industrial, healthcare, and agricultural sectors. Easy access to Cincinnati and the Columbus area expand market and economic choices available to Brown Countians.

Dominant media influence is derived from nearby Cincinnati as well as Columbus. Brown County is located within the Cincinnati DMA (Nielsen Designated Market Area). Therefore, local television, radio and print media tend to be overshadowed and fragmented by dominant Cincinnati and other regional media outlets.

The fragmentation and dilution of other media coupled with significant and steady increases in traffic on roadways has cemented Lind Outdoor as the dominant mass medium in the Brown County market area. Lind billboards deliver all of Brown County for a fraction of the cost of other media outlets.
